

Message from the Minister of Education, Culture and Employment, R.J. Simpson:

Congratulations to all of you who are celebrating your graduation today. Even in the best of times, graduating from college is no easy task. Your task was made even more difficult by the unique and challenging circumstances we've been facing for the past year and a half. Still, you persevered and rose to the challenge, so you all deserve to be extremely proud of what you've accomplished. The hard work, resilience and determination you've shown by getting to this point will serve you well as you move on to your next adventure in life.

On behalf of the Government of the Northwest Territories, congratulations and all the best!
