

Aurora College is pleased to offer the following Business Administration course:

BUSI 0255 Small and Medium Sized Enterprises for Local Economic Development in the Mining Sector & Oil and Gas Sector

The course, Small and Medium Sized Enterprises (SMEs) for Local Economic Development in the Mining Sector and Oil and Gas Sector, aims to provide practical business/entrepreneurial skills for those looking to enter or expand their presence in the mining and petroleum supply chains. This 45-hour course focuses on understanding the context of business, finances, marketing and operations for these SMEs, with an emphasis on the local community. The primary emphasis is integrating SMEs into the supply chain at any phase of the mine life cycle including exploration, development, production, and reclamation. This practical course uses a blended learning approach as well as access to industry and regional experts to develop skills.

Guest Speakers from the Mining Sector will be coming into the course each week to share current experience.
